April 2009 newsletter

It appears that the planning for the May Sale is coming along fine and Doug has everyone lined up for the two days. Remember the dates are May 9th and 10th. If you plan to sell it is very important for you to be at the booth Saturday morning at 8 AM to have your items tagged and put on the tables or shelves. The sale starts at 9 AM. The hours for the two days are as follows: Friday at 6 PM set up time; Saturday sale times are 9AM to 5 PM; Sunday times are 9 AM to 4 PM; and we tear down at the 4 PM hour. In the past we have had a good turnout of workers and it makes the many tasks go easier. Let's do it again.

The June meeting is still in the planning process at this time and I can't report as to the demonstration topic. I will advise you later in the next newsletter. This brings me to a very important subject, our meetings.

I COME, I WATCHED AND LISTENED, I ENJOYED, I WENT HOME.

We all could make that claim and it is usually that way in most clubs or organizations. But the difficult part of that is making sure we have something to share with the group each meeting. A few of us have agreed to take on that challenge, and it is a challenge. We are working with a limited budget and a scheduling problem each month. Who can we get to come and demonstrate and will their topic be of interest to the group. I think our best talent is sitting in our meetings every month. The meeting we had in March of this year was one of our best meetings. If you have forgotten about that meeting it was all show and tell and everyone participated by bringing several of their turnings. As a group we have more talent than any one person we can bring in. We just need to share more of it among our group. Remember the main goal of our group is to educate individuals in the area of woodturning. So ask how you can help in planning our meetings. Don't hold back waiting for someone to ask you, but bring a new thought to our meeting in June.

Remember we still have the Delta Lathe for sale. We could make a real deal to a member who wants to step up to a larger lathe. If we sell it to a non member the price is still the same. You may know of someone in your circle of friends who would be interested also.

In the past two years I have placed a club order with Craft Supplies. We do receive free shipping if we have an order that totals more than $1000. I don't know if we have enough interest this year to place another order or not. If you are interested in ordering send me an email with the approx amount of your order. We would send in the order around the first of June. If we don't have enough interest now we can order in the fall.

The new roster is being sent under separate cover due to address and telephone numbers.

See you at the May sale!
